Re: Employment Opportunities for a Qualified English-Speaking Pharmacist

Dear Recruiter,

My name is Brídelle Cronin and I am an Irish educated Pharmacist. I am writing to apply for any employment opportunities you may have in Advicenne, Paris. Please find my CV attached.

I am interested in working at Advicenne, as I am keen to become part of a team that aligns with the value of developing innovative, effective and safe treatments for those with rare renal diseases with limited therapeutic options. To integrate, work with and learn from you would be an extremely valuable and worthwhile experience.

Improved patient care and outcome is important to me, as is the reputation of the sector. This is evident from my previous professional employment. My experience varies from large-scale industry to community and research environments, those of which include work with Janssen Pharmaceutical Sciences (Cork), Clarity Locums (Dublin, Cork, Kerry) and as a University College Cork (UCC) SURE Undergraduate Research Scholar. These various experiences equipped me with a great appreciation for the inner workings of the pharmaceutical sector, the cross-pollination between various subsectors and consequences for the patient and business as a result, which I believe brings an edge to my application. As well as instilling an appreciation, these experiences have equipped me with transferrable skills and knowledge to be adapted and utilised, in order to make a significant contribution, as an asset, to Advicenne. Such skills include documentation, record and metadata management, interpersonal communication and teamwork, as well as decision-making.

I place huge importance on work ethic and academic performance, as demonstrated by my University results - achieving two 1.1 Honours degrees - in both my Bachelor and Master in Pharmacy. In addition to academia, I have been involved in many extracurricular activities, which have enabled me to develop skills like negotiation and leadership. As Medicine and Health College Representative of the University's Student's Union, I sat on the Students' Union Executive, where I represented almost 2,500 students across the six UCC Healthcare Schools. I discussed issues faced by these students as well as matters arising at committees including Academic Board, Teaching and Learning and College Council. I have been a UCC Peer Support Leader for a number of years to fifteen students in First Year Pharmacy, and a passionate 'MoveMentor'. I have also sat on the board of the Irish Pharmaceutical Students' Association, representing all the student pharmacists of Ireland. Being involved in these activities has enabled me to develop excellent time management and prioritisation skills - attributes that I believe would complement my candidacy for employment at Advicenne. I am confident that I would bring the same enthusiasm and dedication as outlined.

Nowadays, in my free time I enjoy practicing Pilates and Muay Thai, and frequently style celebrities for Irish television and editorials!

Thank you for your consideration, and I look forward to hearing from you soon. I would be available for an interview at any time.

Yours Faithfully,
